We speak for loyal men when we comment on the lawless conduct of the military, not for rebels. They have no right to complain; they have brought all this upon us; and when they lay down their arms they will end these calamities. If they will not do that, let them hold their peace; they are not wronged, and have no right to complain of the fate of war.

When they began this war they offered nothing to the Government but indignities and insults. They blustered, boasted and threatened. They asked no favors; but when the kicks and cuffs come hard, John Smith begins to whine and complain. We exhort John Smith to be a man, and quit this whining and simpering. Mesars. Editors: In these times of civil war, it is very difficult for the Government to get her agents to carry out the laws and to promote her interests. THE SECOND CONTEST AT MANASSAS-THE REBEL GENERAL LEE'S REPORT-OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN LEE AND POPE-ARRIVAL OF OUR PRISONERS IN RICHMOND-GEN. MCCLELLAN REPORTED KILLED-THE INVASION OF MARYLAND. THE LATE BATTLES NORTH OF THE RAPPA

From the Richmond Dispatch, Sept. 8.] The following intelligence is the latest we have been able to see. The first letter from General Lee to President Davis: HEADQ'BS ARMY NORTHWESTERN VA., CHANTILLY, Sept. 3, 1862. His Excellency, Jefferson Davis, President

ing his numerous dead and wounded on the 29th was feeble, but became warmer in the afternoon, when he was again repulsed by both wings of the army. His loss on this day, as stated in his published report, herewith enclosed, amounted to 8,000 killed

The enemy being re-enforced, renewed the attack on the afternoon of the 30th, when a general advance of both wings of the army was ordered, and after a fierce combat, which raged until after nine o'clock, he was completely defeated, and driven beyond Bull Run. The darkness of the night, his destruction of the stone bridge after crossing, and the uncertainty of the fords, stopped the pursuit.

The next morning the enemy was discovered in the strong position at Centerville, and the army was put in motion owards the Little river turnpike, to turn his right. Upon reaching Ox Hill, on the 1st of September, he was again discovered in our front on the heights of Germantown, and about 5 P. M. made a spirited attack upon the front and right of our column, with a view of apparently covering the withdrawal of his trains on the Centerville road, and masking his retreat. osition was maintained, with but slight position was maintained, with but slight loss on both sides. Major-General Kearney was left by the enemy dead on the field. During the night the enemy fell back to Fairfax Courthouse, and abandoned his position at Centerville. Yesterday, about noon, he evacuated Fairfax Courthouse, taking the roads, as reported to me, to Alexandria and Washington.

I have as yet been unable to get official ports of our loss or captured in these various engagements. Many gallant officers have been killed er wounded. Of the General officers, Ewell, Trimble, Taliaferro Fields, Jenkins, and Mahone have been reported wounded; Cols. Means, Marshall, Bayor, Neff, and Gadberry killed. About 7,000 prisoners have already been paroled, about the same number of small arms collected from the field, and thirty pieces of cannon cap-tured, besides a number of wagons, ambulances, &c. A large number of arms still remain on the ground. For want of transportation valuable stores had to be destroyed as captured, while the enemy, at their various depots, are reported to have burned many millions of property in their retreat othing could surpass the gallantry and endurance of the troops, who have cheer-fully borne every danger and hardship, both on the battle-field and march. THE REBELS KILL GEN. M'CLELLAN ON PA-PEL-HIS OBITUARY NOTICE-WHAT THE REBELS THINK OF HIM. The Lynchburg Republican, of Saturday, ontains the following telegram:

Later intelligence gives us the gratifying assurance that Gen. It is now useless to specu-late upon probabilities. The war has as sumed a new phase, and our citizens must expect hereafter to hear news that will startle amidst both good and bad report. The tables have been turned, and the Confederate army is now an army of invasion.

GENERAL LEE'S OPINION. [From the Lynchburg Republican, Sept. 8.] The Richmond Enquirer learns from Confederate States of America:

Mr. President States of America:

General Lee declared the victory of Saturday to be the most decisive of the war. GENERALS LEE AND EWING

[From the Richmond Dispatch, Sept. 8.] The Lynchburg Republican regrets to learn that our noble commander, General Robert E. Lee, was accidentally injured a few days ago. He was holding his horse, when the animal became frightened, and, jerking suddenly, threw the General to the ground, breaking one of the bones in his left hand, and spraining the right wrist. His injuries are painful, though not serious enough to detain him from duty in the field n this great crisis of our history. Reports as late as Wednesday evening bring the gratifying intelligence that Gen. Ewell is still alive and doing well. He is at Buckland, in Prince William county.

THOROUGHFARE GAP.

[From the Richmond Enquirer, Sept. 8.] The passage of the Thoroughfare Gap by General Longstreet, in the face of a force of two thousand of the enemy, is one of the most remarkable incidents of the late operations in Northern Virginia. The defile is a very difficult one, being densely wooded, very narrow, and flanked by high and precipitous mountains. The possessed this, planted his batteries. and directed his sharpshooters and infan-try. Gen. Longstreet quickly drove them away, with a loss of twenty killed and a number wounded on the part of the enemy, and only three wounded on ours.

The Position of the Enemy in Kentucky. It is ascertained that the retreat of the enemy announced in the papers of Saturday, was not a movement looking to the evacuation of Kentucky, or even the abandonment of their menacing attitude in front of this city. They fell back only four miles beyond Florence, and indicate no disposi-tion to go further. They suffered greatly for water when on their extreme advance, and persons familiar with the country declare it will be hardly possible for them to obtain a sufficient supply where they are, as in that region the people have much difficulty in procuring water for domestic use in seasons of drouth. The enemy are supposed to be waiting for re-enforcements; but if this view of the case is correct, they must expect a very formidable addition to their force, if they depend upon it to compensate them for the rapid augmenta-tion of obstacles in the way of their advance to the Ohio river. There is no question that the late movements of the enemy on their part, in the advance which they as having been wounded in the leg. have made a dash or a raid, but that their intention is at least to hold Kentucky. It is obvious, too, that they depend upon Bragg's army to take care of that of Buell, and the theory that they were retreating to avoid being cut off by the latter passes away. Obviously this is the time for the exercise on the part of the military authorities of the keenest vigilance and the ut-most energy, that no advantage may be gained by our quick and desperate toe.-

THE FORCES OF THE ENEMY IN FRONT .-We have information that we regard reliable as to the force of the enemy, which advanced this side of Florence last week .-Twelve regiments of infantry marched through Florence, with a squadron of cavalry, numbering something over one hundred, and twenty-two pieces of artillery. regiments would not average more than five hundred and fifty effective men each. The whole force was, therefore, about eight thousand. The men were waywern and weatherbeaten, and did not display much spirit. They had a heavy baggage train, composed chiefly of wagons, with mules and horses taken at Richmond, and of wagons and horses taken at Richmond, and of wagons and horses impressed from the farmers of Kentucky. The men were confident that they were about to take Cincinnati. One of their generals, a thin-faced, keen-eyed man named Reynolds, said that he could storm our lines easily enough. He professed to have no doubt of his ability to do the job in forty-five minutes. On the retreat there were many stragglers. It is probable that the enemy had more than the one squad of cavalry seen by our informant. They obtained near one hundred recruits in rence and the surrounding country .-Cin. Com., 16th.

Affairs at Augusta, Ky.

EDS. COM.: An article in Sunday's Enquirer, headed "Expedition of Gunboats," is calculated to create a false impression and do injustice to the citizen defenders of Augusta, Ky. Col. Bradford has sufficient force, and the determination to repel any ordinary raid that may be made on the town; the enemy has not had possession, nor has the town been occupied by any party other than its proper authorities. Friday night the scouts reported cavalry coming down the river road, and the gunboats shelled the road outside the town. There is little danger of any attack so long as Col. B. and his associates keep up their present vigilance.

This point of contest was maintained by our troops of the center. Two Colonels were among the rebel slain found on the field this morning. The battle was fought principally with infantry on our part, being impracticable to bring artillery into full play. WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. The Star says that at nine A. M. to-day the engagement at Burnside's position had not been renewed. He was then in undisputed possession of the advantageous crest of the mountain from which he drove the enemy the night before. The firing that commenced at daybreak to-day was an attack of the enemy on Franklin's corps, on the road to Harper's Ferry. No direct communication was had with that corps at 9 o'clock this morning. The telegraph operator at Point of Rocks reports that Franklin was heavily engaged this morning some miles in front of him (the operator)
The division or army corps that yester day morning occupied Hagerstown was not in yesterday's action, though it hastily retraced its steps in order to be in the fight to-day. Neither Sumner's nor Couch's division was in action yesterday, though both are doubtless supporting Franklin to-day, as they were in position to do so yesterday evening. The army corps of Fitz John Porter passed through Frederick to-day, at eight P. M., and were to have arrived on the battle-field at noon.

The rebels in the fight say that Beauregard is expected to join them to-day with an army forty thousand strong. We have no idea that any such expectation of theirs can be realized. WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. Some two hundred wounded, in the recent battles of Bull Run, are at the hospital, at the Vanpelt House, about two miles from the battlefield. They were under Dr. Jno. S. Jamison, of the Eighty-sixth regiment New York Volunteers. The suffering of these soldiers was very severe, being left without food of any kind for two or three days; none reaching them from our lines, notwithstanding the almost superhuman efforts of our government, and none was furnished by the rebels, although a proper requisition was handed in by the Surgeon in charge, at their own instigation. All the food that could be procured from the adjoining farmers was purchased at exhorbitant rates by Dr. Jamison. Men enough of our army remained behind to take care of our wounded, but with the exception of nine, they were all marched away Sunday morning as prisoners, under protest. All that could be effected to relieve the necessities of the wounded was promptly done. Our surgeons and nurses worked night and day. After several days of want, supplies in limited quantities were brought; first, by Dr. McFarland, Medical Director, but afterwards in greater quantities by Dr. Coolidge, Medical Inspector, who was unspar-ing in his efforts to get off the wounded as quickly as possible. With few exceptions no blankets and clothing were furnished, although great numbers were almost in a state of nudity. Fortunately, there was only one day of rain. The following are among the wounded:

Harris Hoffcob, 55th Ohio, leg; Charles
Anderson, 3d Mich., leg; Wm. Robertson,
Michigan cavalry, hand; John Moran,
1st Michigan, thigh; Benjamin Sharp, Ohio, leg; Moses Sauer, Seventh Indiana, thigh; Daniel Wilkinson, 71st E. H. Ovitt, 71st Wisconsin thigh; A Callagham, head and leg; Benj. McCade, 63d Indiana, thigh; Chas. Saunders, 55th Ohio, foot; Michael Cowan, 1st Michigan, knee.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. To-day has been one of the most exciting in the history of Washington. Loyal citizens are everywhere crazy with excitement, and Secessionists everywhere depressed. Bull Run has been avenged, and flag asserted in this most glorious and decisive victory of the war. It is said that Secretary Stanton stated this afternoon that we had taken fifteen thousand prisoners, and that McClellan was pursuing the demoralized and

Our right, com-manded by Burnside, rested on Middletown, and our left, under Franklin, on Jefferson. A general engagement immediately com-menced, General McClellan necessarily attacking the enemy in their very advantage-

The battle was obstinately contested until nearly nine o'clock in the evening, by which time the enemy had been gradually driven up the South Mountain, over its top, into the valley, or along the mountain sides below. We held the top of the mountain on Burnside's line throughout the night, and thus gained a signal and important victory for the time being, though in so doing we have to mourn the loss of the brave and gallant Reno, who was killed.

HEADQUARTERS PROVOST MARSHAL GENERAL OF KENTUCKY, Louisville, Kr., Sept. 16th, 1862.

Brigadier General Boyle, Commanding District of Louisville SIR: In obedience to your order of this date, I proceeded to the county jail of this county, and read said order to W. K. Thomas, Jailer thereof, and demanded of him the fifty (50) contrabands mentioned in the order. He refused positively to obey the same, and used all the force in his power to resist the execution of the order. In conformity with your verbal instructions, I placed him under arrest, and have confined him in the Military Prison. I another party, numbering about forty, seized the books of the jail, and made a had crossed over the night previous in detail of fifty (50) contrabands named in said books. Seventeen (17) of the contrasaid books. Seventeen (17) of the contra-bands had been placed in the jail by the mighty piece of ordnance.—Cin. Out of the fifty (50) thus detailed, found three unfit for service, which I left in prison, leaving forty-seven (47) my possession, to be delivered to Captain Cochrane, which was done, I having sent ompany H, Provost Guards. Believing that Mr. Thomas' resistance must succumb. from a sense of his duty to protect property committed to his charge, I would recomend that he be discharged.

Respectfully, HENRY DENT, near this city. We presume the military would have a right to impress any amount of laborers needed for the safety of the city; and those in the jail as well as others; and just now the latter can be so employed without inconvenience to any one.

The thirty-three committed to the care of the jailer by a civil process, he could not, of course, consent to release, except to an overruling force; so that the responsibility would not rest on him. In refusing his consent, he only did his duty as a civil officer; while we see no impropriety, if the necessity required it, in the military impressing these negroes into the service when their labor is needed, it will be seen that the order requires these contrabands to be returned each night to the Provost Mar-

These negroes have, we presume, been enticed away or carried away from their owners. It is the duty of the military to return them to the civil authorities when the necessity ceases. ENEMY-REBELS DEFEATED, AND PRISON. ERS AND PROPERTY CAPTURED. Official advices have been received at Yesterday we had news of another raid that there has been severe skirmishing in upon the Federal forces at Munfordville. It is reported that Gen. Bragg, with a large force, opened fire upon Col. Wilder and his strong. The affair was a success for the troops, the rebals losing one man morning, and that the fight raged fiercely killed, and two wounded. while eleven horses, one mule and one prisoner were captured from them.

Col. Guitar reports an engagement in detachments. They engaged the enemy at at 5 P. M. daylight, and routed him completely, killing four and wounding many. They captured five prisoners, nine horses and mules, and sixteen guns. Also, two hundred pounds of lead, fifteen pounds of powder, and considerable camp equipage, baggage,

There was no loss on the Union side. The brush was very thick where the engagement took place, and it is thought more were killed on the rebel side than have yet been found. The guerrillas were utterly dispersed, and that band will not again be in a condition to offer trouble. Similar reports are constantly coming in. Wherever found, these rebel parties that long ago seemed so formidable, are attacked and beaten. Regarding the inroad of Hindman and Rains from Arkansas, measures have been taken that will speedily check them. Competent officers for any emergency will leave this city in a few days for the field of action .- St. Louis Republican, 16th.

A DARING STRATAGEM .- The Fitzhugh, reached Cairo last Saturday morning, from this point, having had, on the way, a most amusing as well as dangerous adventure. A special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune says, that before reaching Curlew, Kentucky, the officers were informed that they would probably meet with trouble from a company of guerrillas stationed there, and advised them to be on their guard. There was not a gun on board, but the master managed to procure a piece of timber about five feet long, and a foot in diameter, which, with a little paint, he managed so as to make it resemble a cannon, covered it with a tarpaulin and mounted it on a pair of trucks, and, thus armed, prepared to meet the enemy. Arriving at Curlew, they found fifty guerrillas drawn up in line of battle, who incontinently demanded their surrender. Those on board of the oat said nothing, but brought up from the hold a number of small pieces of limestone sewed up in canvas bags to represent ammunition, and carefully laid them along side the gun. The harmless bit of wood was then turned toward the rascals, and the tarpaulin was about to be removed, when the doughty warriors took to their heels, and ran as if the Old Nick was after them. At Battery Rock, on the Illinois shore, old flatboat, essayed the same undertaking,
